This class will include PowerPoint lectures, several short exercises to be done by participants, and an empowering critique and discussion of student work. Come prepared to dive in outside your comfort zone, in a safe, and supportive atmosphere. This is an active workshop which will assist you in appreciating and producing good abstract art.

ABOUT THE INSTRUCTOR:

Polly Castor is a lifelong artist. She went to the University of Michigan, and has lived in Bethel, Connecticut for the last 31 years. Her passion is working within the full range of abstraction, from impressionism to non-objective art, with particular emphasis on abstract conceptualism, depicting specific Ideas, feelings, and actions. She enjoys working in many mediums: oil, pastel, acrylic, mono-print, collage, watercolor, gouache, photography, and ceramics- and her creative approach of cross-pollinating these mediums with one another brings original results. She has been an artist in residence in Maine for three summers, has been juried in the Pastel Society of America and many other national and international shows.
